The Edmund Rice Prayer

O God, we thank you for the life of Edmund Rice. He opened his heart to Christ present in those oppressed by poverty and injustice. May we follow his example of faith and generosity. Grant us the courage and compassion of Edmund as we seek to live lives of love and service. We ask this through Christ our Lord.

Amen.

Unity in Diversity

Entering this school as strangers to each other and ourselves, we overcome our differences to grow together in every aspect from spirituality to maturity. Whether a teacher, an intellectual, an athlete, an Edmundian, a letterman, or a member of the student council, we work together to conquer adversity. We are brothers in arms willing to support one another through every challenge.

As individuals each having different personalities, interests, opinions and lifestyles, disagreements are bound to arise. Together, the student body overcomes the superficial differences plaguing society both in the classroom and on the field. It is the willingness to work together and persevere that allows us to become wiser. It is our desire to be the best and support one another that fuels the fires in our hearts and puts the thunder in the stands. With the help of family, administration, staff, and coaches, students gain the knowledge and strength needed to understand the world and themselves. We learn to accept and understand one another, becoming stronger as a whole. United we stand. Divided we fall.

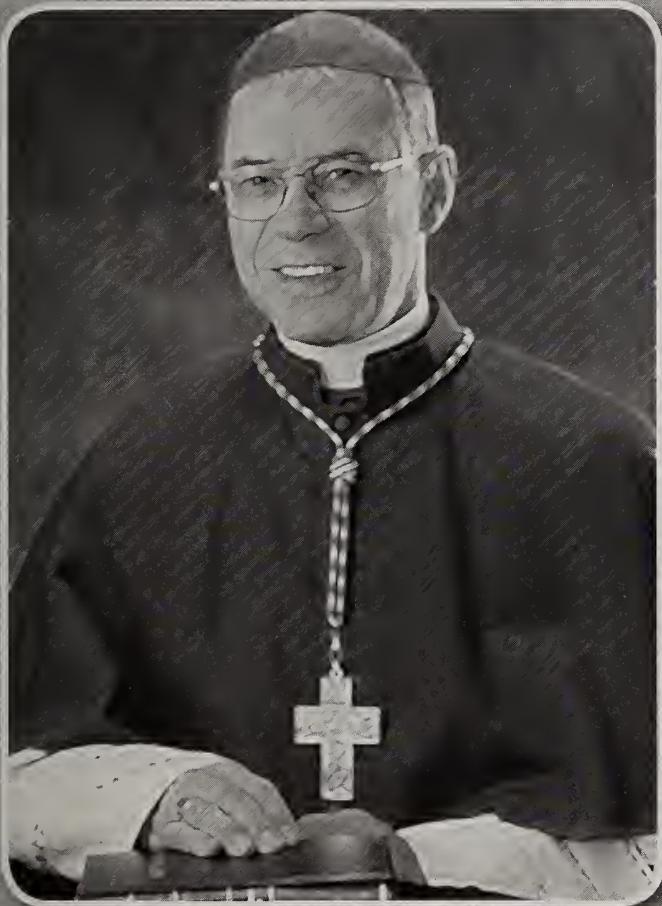

We come together from diverse peoples, places, and backgrounds to Vancouver College, empowered by our individuality. Every student is unique, bringing to this faith and learning community their own personal traits and talents that make student life special. Unified in the goals to be someone, to make a difference, and to succeed and enjoy life, the students of Vancouver College are the future. Although every student is different, there is unity in diversity.

POPE BENEDICT XVI

The world united in great sadness with the leave of Pope John Paul II from this complicated world, but a new leader would be elected by the wise cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church to lead the multitudes of people around the world on the path of light. We know him as Pope Benedict XVI. Born at Marktl am Inn, Diocese of Passau (Germany) on 16 April 1927 (Holy Saturday), is the eighth German to become pope and can speak over ten languages. As a youth under the Nazi regime, he quickly learned that the church had to stand up for truth and freedom. Today, he continues to lead the people of the Catholic faith into the growing world of the 21st century.

RAYMOND ROUSSIN, S.M.

Archbishop Raymond Roussin has continued to leave irreplaceable footprints during his time as Vancouver's tenth Archbishop. Originally from Boniface, MB, Archbishop Raymond Roussin, S.M., studied at a variety of renowned schools, from St. Louis University to the University of Manitoba, where he obtained his teaching certificate. He was ordained on March 21, 1970, beginning a long and healthy career as a leader in God's ministry. As a member of the Society of Mary, Archbishop Roussin swiftly put his expertise in philosophy and the priesthood to good use, serving as Provincial Superior of the Order from 1980-1986. As coadjutor bishop of Victoria, as of September 14, 1998, Archbishop Roussin has been adamant in his teachings and community involvement. As Vancouver's archbishop, Archbishop Roussin has been a vivid reminder of his motto, Fortes in Fide, Steadfast in Faith, which depicts his life as it is: deeply rooted in the person of Christ. His service in the Canadian Conference of Catholic Bishops, the Episcopal Commission for Christian Education, the Episcopal Commission for Liturgy, the Permanent Council, and also as a liaison with the Canadian Catholic Campus Ministry only strengthens Archbishop Roussin's position as a truly dedicated and respected leader of the Vancouver diocese.

Principal's Address

Mr. Dave Hardy

Dear Gentlemen of Vancouver College,

It is indeed my pleasure to express greetings and share a few thoughts with you through the 2006 edition of the Collegian. However, before I begin I want to express my gratitude and congratulations to the Editors and Staff of the Collegian for their outstanding work. I would especially like to thank the Senior Editors Jeremy Villarama, Reggie Antasuda and Patrick Park, and Staff Advisor Mr. Randy Duggan for their leadership and continued commitment to excellence in this yearbook. To all of you on behalf of the Vancouver College Community, I would like to extend my sincere thanks for your outstanding work and service.

I have come to know that Vancouver College is indeed a special place. It is a faith and learning community made up of individuals from diverse backgrounds, skills and interests. Staff, students and parents have come to the Vancouver College Community from different cultures all over the world. There is a diversity in our faith backgrounds, our skills, gifts and talents, and our dreams, hopes and goals. There are scholars, prophets, athletes, musicians, artists, performers and leaders amongst us. What brings us together at Vancouver College is our commitment to excellence in all that we do.

This diversity which is an important characteristic of this school is also a great strength. It provides all of us with a unique opportunity to learn about people from different cultures, different economic and faith backgrounds. This diversity challenges us to become "fraternal brothers" with people with different skills and interests and goals and aspirations. For our graduates this experience of "unifying" has been a crucial part of your experience here while for the undergraduates, this challenge of becoming "fraternal brothers" is still in process.

To the graduating class of 2006, on behalf of the faculty and staff, I would like to extend heartfelt congratulations. Your accomplishments here have been many. You have had an outstanding year and you have been a great role model for the classes that follow you. Your future awaits. Through your experiences at Vancouver College, through the strength of community you have experienced, through the lessons you have learned, through your deepened faith life you are well prepared to go forward to meet all challenges that await you.

We give praise and thanks to God for our diversity. It is our strength as we help students prepare for life after Vancouver College. Through the intercession of Blessed Edmund Rice, may we be ever faithful to the Essential Elements of Catholic Education at Vancouver College and thus help each other grow in wisdom and in grace.

Semper Fidelis

David G. Hardy
Principal

It is the closing of another school year and a time worthy of reflection. The theme of this year's yearbook is "unity and diversity". It is in unity and diversity that we journey together. Unity does not mean sameness but is the appreciation of the diverse manner of our expressions of faith and culture. While being rooted in and committed to our own faith tradition, we also know and understand that our faith and culture can be enriched by learning to understand the faith traditions and cultures of those with whom we travel on life's journey.

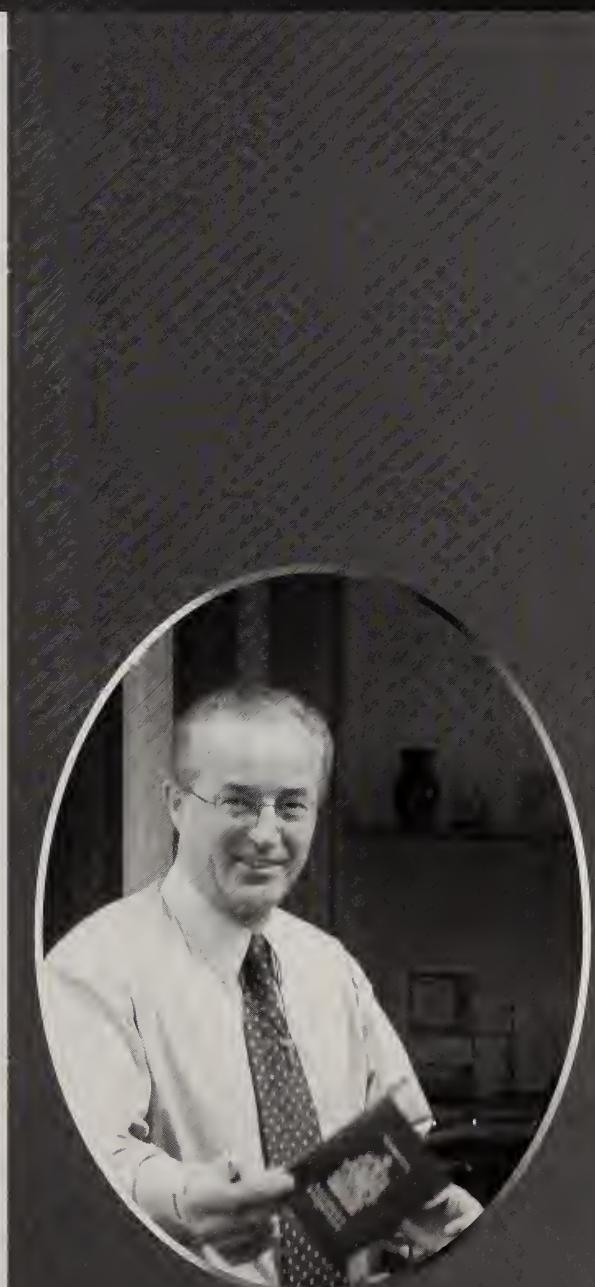

It is essential that religious education be relevant to our lives. In this way it can offer an immense opportunity to the human race, as a source of harmony and unity in a world fraught with conflict and division. We must be concerned at Vancouver College with educating the whole person in the faith and cultural traditions to which he or she belongs.

Religious education in a multicultural Church and country is about being in respectful relationship with other religious, ethnic, national, and global communities. It is not about imparting knowledge that will enable them to apply the message of the Gospel to the situations that they confront in their everyday lives, thereby nurturing and giving meaning to the events and circumstances of their lives. It is then about attempting to discover what it is that God is trying to reveal to us in these life situations.

Education at Vancouver College is presented as a whole, as connected to everything else. There is unity in diversity, for difference gives meaning and value to sameness.

In conclusion, I share on behalf of the entire Vancouver College Community congratulations and best wishes from the Vancouver College School community to those who are graduating this year.

The school motto is: "Semper Fidelis" – Always Faithful. Be faithful to your response to your God and to the needs of self and others. It is my prayer that God continues to make real in your life the deepest yearnings of your heart.

Mr. Michael DeLauers

The theme of Unity in Diversity accurately describes the staff and student in the Middle School. First of all, as individuals, each of us brings our talents, gifts, and our own faith journeys as well as our family traditions, values, and beliefs. This mix adds to the day to day experiences and challenges we face in our relationships with one another.

As a faith and Learning community we bring this individuality and we mesh it together with the traditions and values of Vancouver College. At the heart of these traditions are essential elements of a Christian Brother Education where we strive not only for excellence in athletics, academics and fine arts, but also in being aware of and meeting the needs of the greater community.

Our uniqueness is one of the strengths of this community. We celebrate our diversity everyday through the respect we show for one another and how we strive to live in unity with Jesus, our brother.

Mrs. Barbara Seppelt

When I first came to work at Vancouver College sixteen years ago, I taught grade one. I loved the enthusiasm and excitement that filled every day. On Friday afternoons I would mark the corrections from the boys while they were at a variety of activity centres. One day two boys were playing quite close to me on the floor and I overheard this conversation:

"Do you want to come over to my house tomorrow and play?"

"No I can't, it's Saturday and I have to go to Chinese school... I'm Chinese"

"You're Chinese... wow... so am I!"

"No way..."

This is a moment that I will never forget as it taught me that while we see differences in race, colour, size, religion, children see differences in kindness, compassion and understanding. They do not have any preconceived notions of differences but are taught from us how to treat each other, and how to react to differences. At Vancouver College we are bound together by the threads of faith and learning. We can never really appreciate or understand the unique lives and places were we have all come from, however, we share a vision of what our faith life should be and try and attain it. I am blessed to be in this school and be in a community that has a deep respect for the differences and yet calls us all to be one in God.

Board of Directors

As Chair of the Board of Directors, I have the honour to serve with seventeen men and women who give their time and expertise in service to our school community. Directors are selected from among the alumni, parents and community at large and appointed by the Trustees. The Board is responsible for developing and maintaining a policy for the education and administration of the school and it ensures that the school is managed effectively in a manner consistent with that policy.

The Board actively supports the work of the Vancouver College Millennium Foundation to raise funds for the invigoration of our learning environment and the reduction of the debt that resulted from the settlement of the legal challenge in 2002. We are committed to success.

On behalf of my colleagues on the Board, I extend to each of our graduating students my sincere best wishes for God's blessings in all your future endeavours. I encourage you to remember our motto, "semper fidelis", and to remain loyal to the Christian values you learned at Vancouver College. You are part of our ever-expanding fraternity of Alumn!

To all remaining students and their families, enjoy your years of growth as part of this faith and learning community. The Board is committed to working with our Administration, our staff and parents in the continuing quest for excellence in all aspects of the educational experience offered at Vancouver College.

John H. Nixon, Class of 1969
Chairman, Board of Directors

Parents Association

The Parent Association allows mothers and fathers of Vancouver College students to take an active role in perpetuating the high standard of education Vancouver College is known for. The Parent Association encourages parents to take an active role in their son's school, through offering their time and talents to assist in raising funds for the needs of the school. As another year passes us by, we are able to gauge the incredible amount of effort each parent has contributed by simply looking around the school itself. Without such dedicated and hard-working parents as these, students at Vancouver College would not have the opportunity to enjoy the countless benefits which array their school today. Organizing and maintaining these major fundraising projects, in addition to facilitating necessary school services, such as parking patrol and classroom support, is not an easy task, but with devoted parents involved, each challenge is taken in stride and overcome, mirroring the same image of cooperation and success that the students at Vancouver College demonstrate.

The Grad Class of 2006

I'd like to first of all thank my family for their undying support during my time here at VC. These five years have flown by quite fast, and I've met so many friends, new and old. Chin up Grad 2006, life has just begun.

David Abichahine

Four years ago, I walked through the halls of Vancouver College for the first time. Coming from a relatively smaller school I wasn't sure what to expect, however it soon became apparent to me that Vancouver College was the idealistic school I had dreamt of for so long. My years at Vancouver College have been ones I will remember and cherish forever. I would like to thank my parents, brother, sister and friends, who without I would be lost. Remember "impossible isn't a fact, it's an opinion of someone who's afraid to achieve true greatness."

Ramez Alam

My five years at Vancouver College have been so memorable. Coming to this school I started a new chapter in my life. As the wind turns the final pages of this chapter to an end, I start a new journey, a new chapter in life. I want to thank God for everything he has blessed me with, my family. Dad and Mom I love you, my sister and brother, Suzette and Sheldon, love you always. Thank you Derek W, John M, Arthur T, Alvin T, Kris B, Ben P, Romualdo R, Buddy L, and the youth group for the memories. "Reach for the Highest Point" -Coach Koz

Sean Ang

These 5 years at VC were insane. I thank God for every blessing. Tremendous thanks to Mom and Dad who have supported and loved me through everyday of my life. Thanks to all the teachers. I leave here a wiser Filipino man. Special shout outs to all my friends. You know who you are. Too many funny memories to mention, but I will not forget. I will always remember the random moments, the outings, and the good times. A special era has ended. Stay Safe and Later Days. Just follow your heart. That's what I do. - Napoleon Dynamite

Reggie Antasuda

The grace of God, the unending love of my family, and the dedication of many teachers has helped me complete my secondary education here at VC. Thank you very much to everyone who shared these five years with me. These past years have been a blessing, together we prayed, we learned, we discovered, and grew. The memories we made here will be forever treasured. I wish the best of luck to all the graduates in their endeavours. "I wish you well and so I take my leave, I pray you know me when we meet again." - William Shakespeare

Roland Au

I give thanks to the One with whom the impossible is nothing. Grandfather, Father, Mother, Brother/Lady, and Sister; you are the fuel which drives me to achieve greatness. To all the Coaches; especially the Bernetts, Koz, Prab, and Jamie, you have caused me to bleed purple and gold. To the staff, excellence results from your hard work. To my football and basketball comrades who dug deep and fought with me in the trenches, it will never be forgotten and your impact will never be overshadowed. "I am the greatest. I said that even before I knew I was" - Muhammad Ali

Ricky Bal

It still feels like yesterday when I was some kid, fighting a grade 9 to use the microwave. I'd like to thank my brother and sister Luch and Neia. I only got this far because of you guys. More love to tita Gaye, Kay, Mom and Dad. Favorite moments: working at Warped Tour 04-05, West Richmond Community Centre shows, acoustic night, football, little shop.. Thanks to my friends _____ (put your name there!) As much as I wished I went to public school, I love VC. Thanks. "We got older, but we're still young." - The Starting Line

Eric Balao

It's hard to use 100 words to sum up eighteen years. My five years at VC have seen both triumph and strife, but I hoped that I lived my life with passion like Christ. Mom, Dad, and Mark, mahal kita. Thanks to my friends, teachers, and coaches for everything you do; we have seen it through. Although high school's race is done, remember, we still have the rest of our lives to run.

"I believe God made me for a purpose, but he also made me fast. And when I run, I feel His Pleasure." - Eric Liddell

Wow... 13 years at VC comes to an end. First off I would like to thank my loving parents for supporting me. Secondly, I'd like to thank all the teachers here at Vancouver College. Thirdly, all my friends: there are too many of you to name so I won't bother. Last but not least, thank you God. Thank you for placing everyone in my life when I most needed them. In my closing words, I say, "Farewell to VC. Thanks for everything."

My five years at VC have been a memorable adventure. I would like to thank my family and friends, without you these experiences wouldn't be as sweet. To my teachers, especially those in my graduation year, my goals have been easier with your help. Thanks to my parents for their support and the Morris family for putting up with me since the youngin days. To my buddys, where would I be without you. I was told that the purpose of life is to live: from what I have experienced here I feel I have lived many lives! Finishing high school is only a stepping stone along the path of life. Thank you to my parents for their patience and guidance, putting me on the right path. Thank you to my teachers who helped make me who I am today. So instead of saying "Goodbye", I'll say, "See you again."

God, thank you for all you've bestowed upon me, especially my ability to face and overcome challenges. Also, I would like to thank my family, friends, and best friends for sticking by me through the rough times, for the support, and for the unconditional love; I will never forget the moments that we've shared together. I thank the people that put me down because you give me the drive to move forward. As I confront my unknown future, I will continue my journey that is life. I only have 100 words so here they are! I won't brag about VC because we all know it's an experience we'll cherish forever. Instead, let me remind you of the memories: sushi, bubble tea, encounter, laughs in and out of class, the teachers, our friends, our tears, the cheers, and our community. I've been able to become closer to many of you and I want to thank you all for the moments and the memories. Special shoutz to grad 01 of Sacred Heart and the youth group. Well my five years at VC are finally drawing to an end. I would like to thank my family and friends who have supported me throughout my years at VC. To my parents and sisters, I am grateful for your support and the love you have shown me along the way. To the Richmond Country Club and the many memories achieved over the years, they have been amazing and they will only continue... "Hardwork and Dedication" - Gordon Cawley

I never thought this day would ever come, but it's finally here: the day I leave VC. I would really like to thank my mom, dad and my bro their huge support throughout all these years. To my best friends, who never stopped encouraging me to achieve higher grades in school. I'll never forget the wonderful memories VC has given me, such as hanging out, training, study groups, events, going out for lunch, spares and very difficult times in my life. I never thought I could make it through. To all my brothers at VC, thank you! "Showing off is the foot side of glory." - Bruce Lee

Six years have come and gone so quickly. It's as if only yesterday that I stepped into a VC classroom for the first time! I would like to thank all my family and friends for their constant support throughout my high school years. I would also like to thank my family and friends for their constant support throughout my high school years. Well, it has been quite the ride and it's finally coming to an end. Whether it has felt like five minutes or five decades, the past 5 years have been a memorable chapter in my life. Avoiding a lengthy list of thanks, I would simply like to say, "Thanks _____!" (you know who you are so just imagine your name there). So as my write-up comes to an end, there's only one thing left to say, "Good luck Class of 2006! It's been a good one." "You must be the change you wish to see in the world." - Mahatma Ghandi

Six years at VC went by faster than the speed of light...not really, but it was fast. I first walked into the school as a small fat kid, and how I'm walking out taller, fatter, and more mature. I thank my parents, sister, and family for all the love and support. Jordan, Rom, Kevin, Matt, Buddy, Luke, Frolin, Yang, and the awesome people I got to know and meet, our time together hasn't ended yet. I won't forget the Whistler band trips and Encounter 11! CHEERS, WE'VE MADE IT! "Be a man. Do the right thing." - Russell Peters

6 years have gone by since I've been at VC. The days seem to be getting shorter everyday. I'd like to thank my family for their love and support. I'd also like to thank my friends Jeff W, Johnson W, Mark W, Chris R, Alex T, Pierre V, Mike MS, Tomas C. Finally, I would like to thank the rowing coaches for their dedication and hard work. Thank you teachers and friends of Grad 06!

Thirteen years at this school have given me thirteen years of memories and friends. Throughout these years, with help from my family and teachers, I was able to grow. In sorrow and joy, without all of you at my side, I would not be the same person I am today. Thank you, I give my sincere gratitude to you. I wish you all the best of luck in the near future and for years to come.

Herman Cheng

My thirteen years at Vancouver College has gone by so fast. Most importantly, I would like to thank my mom, my dad, and my sister for being there when I needed help the most. Thank you God for keeping me safe and guiding me. Throughout all these years I've had many spectacular experiences that wouldn't have been the same if it wasn't for my friends - you guys know who you are. Take care everyone!

As my time here at VC comes to an end, I'd just like to thank all of you who have supported me over the years. All the best to the '06 grads.

It's hard to believe my time at VC has come to an end. My 5 years have been filled with unforgettable memories. I'd like to thank my family for their tremendous love and support, my teachers and coaches for guiding me towards a better future, and especially to all my friends for the great time we've had together; I've cherished the privilege of travelling along in this journey with such a great group of guys. These memories will last a lifetime. Best of luck to the Grads of 2006, wherever life may lead you!

Eldrich Chua

I've only been in this country for two years. I've often felt homesick as I lost contact with some relatives and friends. Vancouver College has helped me adapt to a completely different culture and environment from my home town, and I can honestly say that I generally had a great time these 2 years. Even as high school comes to an end, the experiences and memories from this school continue to furnish this place that I can now call home.

First of all, I want to thank my family for supporting me through my 5 years at VC. Thanks to all my friends _____ (put your name here), who was with me through my hard times.

Brian Chui

The Vancouver College community has been my home for thirteen years, and I am very appreciative of everything it has given me. Many thanks to my family, teachers, and coaches, who have all contributed in making high school such a wonderful experience. To all the rowers: thanks for all the great memories from regattas, nationals, and practices at False Creek. I'll never forget my friends, old and new, who have made my years at VC so enjoyable. Best wishes to all graduates. "I've got my own row left to hoe, just another line in the field of time" - Neil Young

This school has given so much to me. I'd like to thank my family first of all for their love and support for me throughout the years. Though things seem sad right now that another chapter has ended, we've learned a lot, and will learn more. Keep your hearts open Grad 06, life has just begun.

To Terry, Carey, Larry, Jeffrey, Jimmy, Emily, Stephanie, Devlin, iron, Mike, Dan, Tom and all others whom I have neither the space nor courage to dare mention. Take flight, as you taught me. You will be betrayed, forgotten, accused, suspected, disillusioned, and generally ignored. So long as you can stand it, hope, dream, and still want to make a difference, life is wonderful. The simplest act of good will leads to more than you, and I'll have imagined. Keep faith in your hearts, love without regard to scale, and may you see the light that shines behind you.

I could not be where I am today without the help of some extremely important people. I would like to thank God for answering my prayers and guiding me throughout my life. I also appreciate how my Mother has always been in my corner and on my side, regardless of the situation. Vanessa I love you. My brother and sister, for always being there for me. Finally, I'd like to thank my Grandparents because they are willing to do anything just to see me succeed. All the VC boys, "Uggh, oh yah." It's been great. "BELIEVE"

O man, I can't believe my time here is up. It has been the best years of my life. I would like to thank my Dad and my family, who guided me, my teachers who have helped me along the way and all my good friends that made this time enjoyable: Z, Andy, J. Blais, C. Blais, Kordyback, Robles, Max, Smitty, and Fendi. For all the things that made VC more enjoyable: lunch time soccer and encounters. Thanks to all my fellow grads, you made my years at VC fun and worthwhile.

Well, it's been five years and the path for me in VC has come to an end. I can't say that I've done it all, but for what I've experienced, I take it to heart. I'd just like to say a big thank you to the teachers and especially my parents and God. I wouldn't be here if it weren't for them. It'll be the friends I've made, tribulations we've overcome, and the hilarious moments that I'll cherish forever. Remember...

Once again, I find myself saying goodbye to something that has given me so much. As we open a new chapter in our lives, I can't help but reminisce about all the unforgettable times spent in these five short years. I'd like to thank those who were there for me through arduous times, and laughed with me through those cherished moments. To the Grads of 06 and beyond, just smile because the world is rooting for you.

These last four years at VC will be a source of great memories for the rest of my life. Great classes Math with Mr. Nardi, Religion with Br. Newman, anything with Mr. Devenport. Once again, another chapter of life, el finito! However, I am eternally grateful to have been a member of the VC community. I will never forget these experiences that have truly had an impact on my life: Band (Whistler and Kelowna), The Cross Country, Soccer, Little Shop Of Horrors (best cast ever), and supporting all our sports teams. Thanks for all the support from my family, teachers, and friends. I'd like to wish success to the Grad Class of 06. Keep in touch! Mediocre is not a word in my vocabulary. Philosophize. No Fear. I've been at VC for a LONG time, and now I must leave a school that I have grown with. I would like to thank my parents for putting me into challenges, and never letting me quit, Eduardo and Lorenzo for keeping me grounded, and Lola and Lolo for being around. I'd also like to thank my friends (those who stopped to read this), teachers, and football for making a great impact in my life. "The awkward silence strikes again!"

I'm still in shock that my six years at Vancouver College is over. Looking back at my years ranging from Outdoor Education, Grade 7, to Encounter, Grade 12, I've finally realized what a faith and learning community means at VC. Many thanks to my family for being there for me when I needed it most, especially my parents for making me into the man I am today. Time is of an essence. These five years will never be forgotten and I wouldn't be who I am today if it weren't for God's blessing. I want to thank my family for their undying love, especially my mom for everything she has done for me because without her none of this would be possible. I would also like to extend gratitude to my teachers - you are what made VC memorable. To my friends, I will always cherish all the memories we've had. CANDICE, I hope we can continue to chase our dreams and reach our "ideal lifestyle," together.

Since my arrival at VC in Grade 7, I dreamed about graduating and enrolling in a post-secondary school. However now that graduation has come, I wish to delay it. But, time can only move forward, so I wish to thank my friends, teachers, and especially my parents for making my journey at VC as enjoyable as it is. I will always cherish my memories of this school... and will never forget my way back.

I've eagerly, yet anxiously, waited for this moment for a long time. These five years at Vancouver College have been unforgettable and being separated from my friends and the environment that I have come to love will be painful. But I will walk through the door, no matter how challenging the first step is, with memories that can push me forward and keep me going: laughs, hardships, insanity and friendship. I will cherish these memories forever and await the good times in the future. Thanks for always being there. "The less effort, the faster and more powerful you will be."

Well, thanks, it's been a blast but it's past, and the best is still to come. I shall continue to move forward in whatever it is I do. Thank you to all come and gone members of the soccer team. After spending almost a third of a year on the bus it's time to stretch. I'll miss you VC and, even more so, the people in it. It's been a treat. I'll be seeing you.

It's been a pretty crazy ride, complete with its ups and downs, but I have to say that the three years spent at VC have been hilarious. Meeting all the different people here is what made the Ben you all know and love (2006 form). Thanks to all my friends who have been there to laugh at me while they pulled me up and have been there for me to laugh at. Seriously, thanks for everything guys. There'll be no conformist quote from me, seeing as how you've already got a long quote from moi right here. Ciao

Wait a second... I'm graduating already? How will I ever allow all those fun-filled adventures at VC slip away into mere memories? but this, I guess, separates the grads from the rest. Nevertheless, I am grateful for every experience I have enjoyed over the past 13 years. Special thanks to my Mother and Father for their continued guidance. Lunch and basketball? Unforgettable times! It hasn't been the easiest journey, school at VC. I can't say all 11 years of it were fun, but I'm glad I went through it with the group I did. I have to thank my Mom, the family, and the Horsemen. Whether it was the fate of the Star Wars TV show, what was the best new PC game, or just putting up with my love/hate relationship with wrestling, it was a sincere pleasure to have such fine friends. Now is a time of reflection, one in which we remember everything we have done, and everyone who has helped us along the way. First and foremost, I would like to thank God, no matter how generic, for always being there for me through thick and thin. Secondly, I would like to thank my parents who have supported all of my endeavours. Finally, I want to thank my friends who have made the 6 years here at VC unforgettable. Life is full of uncertainties, and the only thing we can do is work with what we are given.

Thanks to friends, parents, Jesus for helping me out in the hard times life. I have no regrets going to VC. It's been a short five years, but the longest life changing experience. Each year I grew from a boy into a man. VC helped me through each and every step of my journey through thick and thin. Mr. Burke, Mr. DesLauriers(s) and all other staff members who put up with me through times of chaos, thank you. The community spirit and atmosphere of VC is incomparable. Encounter 13 baby Carson H, Jason T, Raymond K, and the rest of my buddies, thanks for putting up with me no matter how annoying I was and maybe still am. Much gratitude is due to those who have become a part of me over the last 5 years: Mom and Dad (for your unconditional love), Ninoy (for your footsteps), Rea (for your kindness, food, and money), Kuya John (for my foundation), Jason Christopher Oliver, Joseph Albert Malabuyoc, and Enrique Garcia (for your daily presence and friendship), all of the teachers (for your endurance), particularly my favorite, Mr. Freire, and, of course, whom the sun shines for (for you). For five years I have regarded VC a puzzle, in that it challenged me to strive for the best in everything I did. But, at the same time, the great experiences that I have had with my friends (Martin N, Brady L, Buddy L, Justin S, Luke M, Ernest H, Wesley L etc) made it an easier puzzle to solve. As I say farewell to this wonderful school, I would also like to thank God for guiding me every step of the way. Without Him, I would not have been able to fit in the last piece of the jigsaw.

The last two years in VC were undoubtedly awesome experience. I would like to thank my parents for giving me an opportunity to attend VC and all my friends and VC teachers for helping me to overcome numerous difficulties in school. I know I will never forget the experiences from VC, such as cleaning the gym till 2 am with other Edmundian colleagues, attending Encounter and working countless hours behind the blue yearbook workroom door.

I wish all graduates a bright future and good luck whatever it is the future holds. "You are the best of the best" Enzo Nardi

Sean Park

It has been already 2 years since the first day of my school at VC. Although it's my ONLY 2nd year at VC, I will never forget all the bittersweet memories I had with my friends and teachers. VC not only provided a way to successful, but it also guided me to be a valuable man. I thank my parents, who have always trusted and supported me. I'll miss you all, and may the Force be with you, always.

It is hard to believe that the five years at VC is finally coming to a close. Though it's not the end of our journey, it is just the beginning. First off I would like to show my gratitude and thanks to God, and my family for supporting me through these best years of my life. I would also like to thank my loving girlfriend Karina for her love and support. To my closest friends, you know who you are. To the crew of Encounter 11, the best ever. To the Spanish project, and playing soccer with the buddies, I am going to cherish that forever. "Is the juice worth the squeeze?"

School? Done? Already? Well I suppose I'm to say my goodbyes here, but I would rather not. Instead, I want to thank everyone that has contributed to my time here: My family, friends and teachers. It's quite been a ride boys, but now that the coaster is done, we're up in another line for some new thrills. I'll see you all later.

It feels like yesterday that I would run around with my friends causing havoc here and there, getting laughs from everyone. Oh. Wait. That was just yesterday. Anyways, I'd like to thank my family and friends for all their support. I love you all, and you'll always be in my heart. Thank you to my teachers, for their patience with me. Here's to you Grads of 2006, raise your glasses! Cheers!

I've had six wonderful years at VC, and it's hard to believe that this will be my last. Thank you Mom and Brendan for your love and support, and thank you Dad, I know you'll always be with me. From basketball trips to band trips, my years at VC have been filled with unforgettable memories. My friends are the best in the whole wide world, thank you all for the great times. Time is short. I've come to this conclusion during my last moments here at Vancouver College. My first memories were set in this very school, and I have gone through some fun times, and some tough times. I want to thank my family and my teachers for their support with my education. I want to thank my friends, for their constant actions to throw me off my education. Just kidding. You are all great. See you later, Grads of 2006.

Jeremy Quan

They say knowing your roots can help describe your upbringing. I believe this allows us to know the memories that are accompanied with our experiences. Vancouver College has been the root of my high school years since grade 8. The memories I take have developed a story deserving its own chapter in my life. It has brought me events, invaluable and lasting memories. These distinct memories coupled with my experiences allow me to launch myself toward the future. I will always be thankful to those I befriended and those who have supported me toward a new day in my life.

As one chapter ends, another is set to begin. My 5 years at VC have been the most memorable experiences of my life. I would like to thank God (786), my parents and my brother for the love, and support. After five years and thousands of classes at VC there are only the good few days you remember. Nevertheless, it remains the time spent chilling with the fellas that I will not soon forget. Although I missed a lot of school, I caught the gist of what it is all about. GOLD, BEIJING 2008

Five years at VC have finally gone by but I am going to miss this place. I'd like to thank all of my teachers and rowing coaches for their hard work. Special thanks to my family for being there for me as well as my buddies for being rad and making it happen. These have been some of the best years of shredding and fun and will always be remembered, but now I am graduating and its time to get to work... The day, both awaited and dreaded, has finally come. My 5 years at VC have been far more than Phenomenal: Edmundians, football, basketball, Encounter, STRINGS, bookroom, etc. Thanks to God for many blessings and guidance. Thanks to my family for the love and support that has helped propel me thus far. Thanks to the staff and teachers who have been both mentors and friends. These 6 years seem like a blur and it's a darn shame. It's hard to forget the ridiculous/fun memories with friends, tortures of last minute cramming and my mother's comforting words after I receive my grades. There are just too many to remember. I would like to thank my mother for her infinite patience and her boundless love for me. Also thanks to my great friends, I hope that they may remain who they are and remember the many, many, good times we've had. I leave Vancouver College as a better student, a better son, and a better man.

Marcelnor Sherst

WOW! I cannot believe 13 years have gone by like cake. I'd like to thank my family, friends and teachers. I will always cherish my fun and crazy moments at VC and growing up with many different experiences. Thanks to VC for the great times, and of course; the band program. Rock ON!!!

Surprisingly, time passed by really fast. It seems like yesterday I came to Vancouver College, a scary place at first but as time passed, it was a good and friendly environment. I made some good friends, Lunchtime B-ball, and I am glad I was part of it. During these years, I had a great time where I was able to share a laugh with many people and feel sorrow with some at encounter. There are many people to thank; however, I have to say "Friends are priceless, for everything else you have MasterCard!"

I've had many great memories while here at Vancouver College. I can't help but thank all my family and friends for their great and unfailling support through the years. Also, to my teachers for their patience and care with my learning. Up high, down low. Catch you on the flip side, boys.

I came to VC unsure of who I knew; I leave now knowing who I am. In this process of self-discovery, I have been aided by numerous people. First and foremost, thanks to God for all that he has done for me. Thanks to my parents, for guiding me through the good times and the bad. Even though I may not say always, I want to thank my brother / sister for being with me throughout this whole journey. One hundred words cannot explain what the past years have meant for me. Special thanks go to: My parents, siblings, the teachers of VC, and all my friends that have helped me through these years at Vancouver College. They were fun but short; and I'm going to miss them. Let's not stay strangers, so that our memories of high school will persevere through the years. Shoutouts go to my Brothers in Arms: Martin N, Wesley L, Frolin O, Brady L, Ernest H. "Don't look left or right, only forward to Victory"

Now it is time to ascend and venture into a new world. I will not hesitate; I will always move forward but never dismiss the unforgettable memories with the bonds I have made. Nothing can sum up this journey, it can only be experience. My passage can only be revealed by who I am today for I have left a new man. Thank you to God, my family, friends, teachers, and coaches you've helped me shape the person I am. Stand strong, persevere, chase those dreams and live. Now is the time for heroes!

To GOD: thanks for making everything possible and presence through the ups and downs. Five years FINALLY come to an end, and my time here felt so long. Although time here felt like an eternity, I come to realize how much VC has given me. From morning band, to night football practices, VC is my life. For all the memories, the list is endless, and it's been great. Thanks to everyone from youth group, St. Joe's youth, football, band, settle down, (and everyone else that I'm missing) for everything you've blessed me with. Peace be with you always, God bless. I will never forget the fulfilling years that I have experienced here at VC. I would like to thank my friends for being there for me, my family for supporting me, and my teachers for providing not only knowledge, but invaluable insight into life. A part of VC will always be with me as I embark upon the next chapter of my life.

After six years of memorable moments, it is time to say goodbye to VC. Hard work alone was not enough to push me through my 6 years at VC; I had never-ending support from my family, teachers, God, and most importantly, my friends. I would especially like to thank mom, dad, and my brother, Toby, for all their love and guidance. Looking ahead, time seems eternal. Looking back, it seems to travel in light years. It has been amazing, Grad of 06, I wish the best of luck as we all enter a new phase in our lives.

Thank you to God mom, dad, Jessica, ana, all my friends (more good times ahead), the teachers who made a difference in my life (I'd name all of you, but I got limited space), sports, and everyone I forgot. Many memories: Lunch hours, spare blocks, Encounter, and spending time with friends, to name a few. Remember guys, treat others how you'd like to be treated. Good luck to the grads of 06 in the future. Please keep in touch. I'll never forget the memories I made at VC. Lastly, thanks to all you guys for being my friends.

You have helped me reach this point of my life, shared many laughs, and created countless memories: you have guided me through all the doors of life and educated me through all the years: you were there to show me love and compassion; you were there to lend me a hand when I was stumbling at your door step, not knowing where I was: you were there with me through all the happiest, saddest, and funniest times. You guys know who you are and I want to say thank you. Special thanks to Mommy and Daddy, Khai, and Beth: you guys rock, love you.
Best of luck to Grad 06!

Brevity is the one word that describes my time here. Everyday has been a lesson of life, and God strengthened me for the harder lessons. I love you, my family. I exist because of your love and support. I am grateful for my teachers, and their steadfast patience. My friends, Arthur T., CJ Castro, Leah Y., Jonas B., Aycee, Jeff N., Nigel P., and those unmentioned. You've all been my aid through the years. Step by step. Blow for blow. Here's to you, Grad '06, cheers.

Thanks to: Family, for being my motivation and support. Friends, for being family. Teachers, for being friends, and times of hardship, for being my greatest teacher.

Aicurumba! What?! Our last year at the school? It truly has gone by in a flash and I thank my friends, my teachers, and the community, and most importantly my parents for laying down the stepping stones that will guide me towards my future. Where I end up, I honestly couldn't tell you. I do know that I've been blessed and that this community has crafted my ability to believe. My five years here at VC have been great. I would like to thank my parents, rowing coaches, and, of course, all of my rad friends. My best times were spent shredding in the Coast Mountains and the Kootenays, skating at Creekside, skrimmin' at Wreck, Spanish Banks, and Crescent Beach, as well as all of the rowing races. Salute to all the guys who Gave'r. Now it's time to go shred the gnar.

It's been four years since my first day at Vancouver College in grade 8. I look back and see my growth as a student, a friend, and a son. My journey to where I am now has been full of highs and lows, sad times and happy times, but I wouldn't trade it for the world. I would like to thank my friends, family, and teachers for allowing me to achieve excellence in school. Thanks to the staff and students here at VC, I know I will look back to my high school years in the future with no regrets.

It is amazing how 13 years have gone by so fast. I will never forget the memories I have gained ever since Kindergarten. I'd like to thank all those who have supported me throughout the years: family, teachers, and especially my friends. I had a great time at VC, and it's a shame that it has to come to an end. However, I look forward to the future and the countless experiences that lie ahead.

13 Year Men

Thirteen years ago, twenty-six inquisitive young minds united for the first time in September 1993. Not knowing what the future had in store, they continued to grow within the Faith and Learning community known as Vancouver College. In the summer of 2006, despite all their differences, twelve young men will unite once again to make up this year's "Thirteen Year Men".

Embarked on a journey that lasted thirteen years, these young men have enjoyed and experienced all that Vancouver College has to offer. Leaving with them are the unforgettable memories and everlasting friendships generated throughout their thirteen years in the Vancouver College Community. Although the thirteen year men have experienced the loss of classmates and teachers over the years, they also had the opportunity of making new relationships and bonds with those closest to them today.

Throughout the thirteen years of school, both the students and school grew. The thirteen year men participated in the diverse lifestyles at Vancouver College leaving a profound mark on various clubs, teams, and teachers alike. Uniting all their dedication and hard work, the thirteen year men have proudly represented the Fighting Irish spirit.

After spending thirteen years together, Kristofer, Alexis C., Herman, Tomas, Enrique, Matthew, Dustin, Alexander, Alexis N., Jeremy, Marcellor, and Richard will end their journey at the conclusion of the school year. As the twelve men begin a new chapter in their lives, they will never forget how much Vancouver College and each other have impacted over two-thirds of their lives. Thus, standing as a united group the Thirteen Year Men will end by saying 'Semper Fidelis'.

Together we are strong

VANCOUVER COLLEGE

Blessed Edmund Rice Hall

AS THE OLDEST IN THE SCHOOL, WE HAVE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF BEING THE ROLE-MODELS FOR OUR YOUNGER PEERS. WE EXPERIENCE OUR DIVERSITY DAILY AND HELP TO UNITE THE SCHOOL AMID OUR DIFFERENCES. WE HAVE THE RESPONSIBILITY OF SETTING AN EXAMPLE FOR OTHERS, TREATING OTHERS WITH KINDNESS, RESPECT, AND COMPASSION. WE ARE THE FUTURE. WE HAVE TOILED THROUGH EXAMS, HOMEWORK, AND SEEMINGLY ENDLESS GLASSES TO REACH THIS POINT, BUT STILL WE MUST VENTURE ONTO REACH THE END. THE END IS IN SIGHT AND WE ARE ON THE FINAL STRETCH OF OUR JOURNEY. THERE ARE MANY PATHS THAT WE CAN TAKE JUST AS THERE ARE MANY OPPORTUNITIES FOR US IN OUR FUTURE; HOWEVER, WE MUST FIRST CREATE UNITY WITHIN OUR DIVERSE COMMUNITY BEFORE WE CAN BAND TOGETHER TO PROCEED IN THE NEXT STAGE OF OUR LIVES. OUR IMMURITY HAS LONG PAST AND WE NO LONGER LIVE IN THE CAREFREE DAYS OF OUR ADOLESCENCE. WE HAVE BECOME MEN AND, AS SUCH, WE REALIZE THAT WE MUST ACHIEVE UNITY IN ORDER TO SUCCEED. EACH STUDENT POSSESSES HIS OWN TALENTS, INTERESTS, STORIES, AND MEMORIES, AND, BECAUSE OF HIS CONTRIBUTION TOWARDS THE SCHOOL, WE ARE ABLE TO CREATE A FAITH AND LEARNING COMMUNITY THAT ACTUALIZES A SENSE OF PRIDE, BELONGING, AND SECURITY FOR THOSE WHO CALL THIS SCHOOL 'HOME.' THE DUTY OF UNITING THIS DIVERSE COMMUNITY IS GIVEN TO US, THE SENIOR SCHOOL STUDENTS, TO FULFILL. THE FUTURE OF THE SCHOOL LIES IN OUR HANDS; WE STAND ALONE TOGETHER, UNITED BECAUSE OF OUR DIFFERENCES.

Grade 11

As with all new years at Vancouver College, our grade has been united in our apprehension of the unknown, of our new courses, new friends, and new teachers.

Facing these periods of apprehension has been our constant source of growth as men and this year has been no exception. Branching out from our collective beginning into many diverse areas is a refined talent for our Grade 11 class with our contribution to sports, the arts, academics, and many other extracurricular activities. Our collective contributions have enabled us to grow as individuals and develop ourselves with regards to our sense of community. In many ways, our level of maturity is finally becoming evident in our conduct, both inside and outside of the classroom, and we are that much further to becoming the responsible and moral men Vancouver College is reputed to produce. Our struggles of being the young ones in the school are long gone as we inch closer and closer to the coveted position of Grade 12. We are expected of so much, and we surely will not disappoint. Next year will truly be a year to remember. Semper Fidelis.

Grade 10

Fresh into senior school, Grade 10 introduces us to a new world. Time and work are becoming more real each day; second-chances are a thing of the past. But Vancouver College has taught us well and we are eager to take every opportunity found in each crisis. As we begin to realize that graduation is only a few years ahead, Planning 10 prepares us for the greater challenges to come. But it is a time of celebration as much as it is preparation. We find consolation in friends, and excitement in new ones. We find our way as a team and, together, we truly find ourselves.

We are the future of the school. We are those who must learn from our older peers what it truly means to create unity within diversity. We are strong, fearless, and proud. We dart forward on our journey without fully knowing the consequences of the risks we take. Here is where the unity begins, where it is sowed, where it takes root. The experiences we share, the relationships we form, our failures and successes, the adversity we face together all contribute to the foundation that will aid our constant struggle to become united, to become brothers. We strive to succeed: academically, athletically, artistically, and spiritually. We struggle to cast off our immature selves and become men, but, we are facing the calm before the storm. We enjoy our time at this phase of our lives because we know that the times ahead are full of both dangers and opportunities that determine our future. There are difficult decisions ahead; but, until then, we must continue to seek unity within our diverse band of brothers. Everyday, we strengthen the bonds that hold us together and help each other to stay united towards the common goal of establishing unity. We come from different places, different families, and different lives; but, we come together in a faith and learning community as we struggle to create unity within diversity as we continue on our journey of becoming brothers. Brothers united against the differences that threaten to tear us apart from each other and from God.

Grade 9

Grade 9 has made us leaders of the middle school. With this role we are also presented with new obstacles to overcome. However with these struggles, we are also ensured new triumphs. With fresh faces and new homerooms we continue to forge friendships to last a lifetime. With our imprints in Vancouver College deepening, we take the opportunity to create even greater memories. With the rest of our life waiting ahead of us, we take the time to pause, recollect, and think. Most importantly, in Grade 9, with the family we have made in Vancouver College, we realize who we are: brothers united in Christ.

Grade 8 is a year of new faces, new teachers, and new memories. As we are broken up into our own distinct homerooms, we are given the opportunity to mould ourselves into one unique community. Our time together will continue to shape the rest of our career with Vancouver College for the friends and relationships we harvest will be what sustain us during both the good times and the bad. Though classes become tougher and the workload gets heavier, Grade 8 is a year when we are comforted in knowing we do not bear the load alone.

Grade 7 marks the beginning of our term in middle school. As we take off the purple sweaters that have defined our place in elementary, we put on the prestigious black Vancouver College sweaters that our effort and patience have finally rewarded us with. Our schedules and classmates may have changed but our unity and Fighting Irish spirit will always remain. The time we have spent in Outdoor School has strengthened us as a class but more importantly as a family. The brothers we have made in Grade 7 will truly be the men we depend on for years to come.

We, the elementary students of Vancouver College, have been blessed with another year. In our home away from home, we have spent the year learning, growing, and getting to know each other in this wonderful environment. We are lucky enough to have this chance to live, love, and explore the world around us and, although we are unaware of our awesome potential, we still try our best, in and out of the classroom. We develop our interests between and within classes, and as we find our own paths to walk down, we never forget what it means to be a student at Vancouver College. We have much to learn and we look forward to what the future brings, all the while letting our imagination and curiosity motivate our actions as we live life to the fullest.

Life is a great mystery: it has been and it always will be. Some of this mystery has been revealed to us already, however, and we take comfort in the fact that our understanding of the world is only beginning to take shape. Grade Six has presented us with a whole new set of challenges to overcome, both as individuals and as a community. Next year we shall leave the familiar environment of elementary school for the unknown setting of middle school. Until then, we can rest assured that all of our trials, efforts, achievements, and memories will help us in facing a new and challenging education experience.

Friends, family, community, and Christ. We have experienced each day under these positive influences here at Vancouver College. As the leaders of the primary school, we have been responsible for setting a good example for the younger grades. While our Grade Three year at Vancouver College has come to an end, the memories we've created will remain in our hearts forever. Our teachers have shown us the value of knowledge and the power of Christ every day, which contributes to making each school day here at Vancouver College so enjoyable. We're energetic and sometimes we forget how we should treat each other, but, in the end, we learn from our mistakes and become better people because of them.

We travel along the path of life, learning, laughing, living, and loving each and every day. Vancouver College allows us to discover and develop our interests as each of our classmates is both a friend and brother. Sitting in class and playing at recess both achieve the same results: we learn the value of being a good friend, student, athlete, and follower of Christ. With the guidance of God, we can trust that we are headed in the right direction. Our love of life makes each day a memorable one and, as we look forward to next year, we know in our hearts that we will try harder, push forward, and live each day to the fullest as we progress through Vancouver College.

As our journey progresses, slowly but surely, we begin to learn more about ourselves and our peers. Our positive environment here at Vancouver College is in the process of supplying us with the knowledge to succeed. Our unforgettable memories as eager students serve as a reminder of who we are. Our precious moments today will leave an imprint in our hearts for as long as we live. This memorable Grade One year has set the course for the remainder of our journey here at Vancouver College. As we move from workbooks to worksheets, we build the foundation for the men we are to become.

When we step onto the VC grounds for the very first time, it is the beginning of an era. We come to learn about the world around us. Students work together and along the way make new friends that will last a lifetime. We may be young but we still understand the troubles of homework. Our potential is about to become uncovered, but for now we'll enjoy playing soccer on the field, scoring goals, and hanging from the monkey bars. We have the entire world in front of us and thanks to this school, our future looks promising.

Devotion, commitment, blood, sweat and tears is what builds even more of a brotherhood of the Vancouver College community. Whether the battle is on the field, court, or in the water, we work together to bring our teams to victory. The Vancouver College sports program is the soul of the pride and strength we uphold. From the morning practices, to the late afternoon workouts, our Vancouver College teams work hard and sweat hard to become the victors we long to be. We give our Irishmen a fiery pride in our school. We get their adrenaline running through the stands. Together with our teammates and fans, we build community. We play more than just a game; it's the game of life.

VANCOUVER COLLEGE SPORTS

Dreams are pursued by the selfless and determined. Goals are accomplished only through sacrifice and hard work. For the 2006 Fighting Irish Varsity football team, their path was ever so bright that the stars shined purple and gold. Each day brought a new hope and one definitive step closer to the coveted championship. The season began with what seemed like a dream come true: a shut out win over the legendary STM knights. Every game that followed could be called smooth easy sailing, but not for the Irish. Practices were vigorous and demanding, injuries at times took quite a toll, and every member put everything they had to fulfill their part of the grand design. Thanks to several dynamic players from both offense and defense, and a pack of heart-filled and passionate coaches led by Mr. Bennett, the team advanced, learning from mistakes, improving on crucial skills, and developing a bond of friendship only time could yield. By the time the finals came, every word had been said, every play melded into the heart, and every man stepped up to the plate to put only the best foot forward. But alas, the Irish were not the victors. But aside from all that, what more could one ask for than a season full of memories and great moments. This year of football will forever leave yet another historical mark upon the golden Irish altar as the tradition continues.

From the parched yellowish brown grass at Montgomery Field to the green and brown of the trampled grass and mud later in the year, the story of the season can be told with pride. The players worked hard, practiced hard, and played even harder, and the purple and gold emerged victorious over opponents wearing uniforms of many different colours. Despite valiant efforts, the Junior Varsity team fell in the pre-season and regular season to two teams: Holy Cross and STM. However, the darkness of these defeats did not sway us, but only made us stronger. We worked harder in practice, striving for perfection, keeping our eyes on our ultimate goal: the provincial championship. We continued to beat a multitude of teams, and advanced, through grit and determination, to the semi-finals. We grew together as a team and went into the semi-final game against Holy Cross with one aim: on victory. However, the Purple and Gold were not to triumph over the Red that day. The hearts of the courageous Vancouver College players and coaches were torn in two by this loss. Regardless of our defeat, the season was, overall, a success. Many thanks to Coach Burke, Coach Cordick, and all of the other coaches, and others who gave us their invaluable support this past season.

Grade 8 Football

The 15-16 football season can best be described as one of perseverance and determination. Despite the lengthy strike which interrupted a big part of our season, the players and coaches worked hard to continue. This season would not end on a disappointing note. The majority of the 11 players returning back to August came out to every practice, regardless of how far they were from things outside their comfort boundaries and hard work paid off as our season resumed as the young Fighting Irish quickly came within a field of ending their season with a Commonwealth banner.

Nevertheless, the players and the coaching staff can be extremely proud of their strong and encouraging demeanor. They were a pleasure to coach and I enjoyed every day. I am particularly grateful to the many players who displayed strong leadership qualities and attitude. These players made my coaching a pleasure and easier. The 16-17 football team will move to provincial Vancouver College with the same standards of continuation.

Varsity Basketball, has always been the next crowd attracting function after the football season. The high scoring game always manages to set the crowd ablaze with high spirits and loud voices. No matter the situation the Irish always play their strongest and give off the crowd's energy. This year the Varsity players have grown to love the sport even more, and increased their creativity with the ball, as many have witnessed in their fast pace quarters. Basketball is truly one of Vancouver College's fine sports.

JV Basketball was another rousing success at VC this year. Each game presented us with a new challenge and a new opportunity to better ourselves. Although our season is at an end, the skills and friendships we have acquired this year will remain with us our entire lives. We leave behind a legacy of sweat, determination, and victory as we anticipate what the future might hold for us.

The Purple and Gold Grade 8 Boys' Basketball Teams played a total of 39 games during the 2005-2006 season including tournament play at Kitsilano, Pitt Meadows, St. Georges, Delta, Fleetwood Park, Handsworth, and our own Emerald tournament. The best results were second place finishes to the hosts in the St. George's and Fleetwood Park tournaments by the Gold and Purple teams respectively. Both teams continued to improve throughout the season and although this improvement was not reflected in the final win-loss column the boys are well-positioned for success next year and beyond.

The love for sport comes at a very early age. The illustrious basketball program here at Vancouver College certainly is a testament to that. Beginning in grade five, student-athletes begin to develop an appreciation and love for the game, in hopes that one day they will be able to play for the distinguished Fighting Irish Varsity team. While they grow in size and stature, they grow in competitive spirit as well. It is during these vital years where these athletes develop their dribbling, passing, shooting and rebounding skills. These young men are ambitious, determined and dedicated: traits that embody each and every Fighting Irish athlete. Throw it down, big man.

Lacrosse Team

Only three years since its inception at Vancouver College, the Fighting Irish lacrosse team has proven itself a squad worthy of provincial recognition.

Headed by seniors Nathan Clare, Victor Sachs-Latu and Kevin Peck, the team brings out their A-game night after night. Coached by the always devoted Mr. Canil, this young team certainly has a bright future, and lacrosse is here to stay. Through their perseverance and dedication, the team has thrusted themselves into the upper echelon of lacrosse teams all over BC. The future of VC lacrosse looks promising as the juniors look to step it up big and continue the Fighting Irish lacrosse legacy.

The hard, black, asphalt track of the Fighting Irish has once again triumphed in attracting students to join yet another spectacular season of Track and Field under the leadership of Head Coach, Gordon Penn. No matter the size, height, or experience, the Irish faced every challenge with the sole purpose of winning the gold or striving to place in the top eight, to aid the team with another point. From our turf, to the shiny track of Swangard Stadium, the Irish display the familiar motivation, desire, and determination in all their endeavors, and bring the Provincial banner home to Vancouver College. Special thanks to Coach Penn, Coach O'Loughlin, and Coach Anderson for their time, support, and commitment in training us to reach our full potential.

To the observer, the sport of rowing appears simple. They believe that the motion of pulling a boat across the water requires little motor skill. However, such simplicity is deceptive. Rowing is both a science and an art. There is physics in the application of power, chemistry in the lactic acid, and mechanics in the water current and technique. But there is also poetry in sending the boat flying across the surface, art as each member of the boat locks in perfect synchronicity. Whether at 5AM, after school, or on regatta weekends, the members of the Vancouver College Rowing Crew are scientists and artists, leaving their mark (and opponents) in their wake.

The Vancouver College Senior

Soccer team, led by captains Ramez Alam, Mitch Ray, Nathan Tjipta, and Matt Chisholm, had a roller coaster season. The team lost key players to a myriad of injuries and faced an uphill battle all season. The team held their own against strong opposition, although the season was short because of the teacher's strike. The Irish players would like to thank Coach Davenport, Pineda, and Ziyaad for their time and dedication. The grad class of 2006 would like to wish next year's Irish soccer team good luck. Semper Fidelis.

WRESTLING

Our 2006 edition of the Vancouver College Fighting Irish Wrestling team has yielded a high crop of excellent wrestlers whose efforts have propelled them to the throws of greatness. Our efforts both as individuals and as a team have enabled us to excel at the sport we love while good times and good friends instilled us with a sense of community. Additionally, under the leadership of our captains, we wrestled on through adversity and weakness and an impressive nine Vancouver College Championships. It is thanks to these fine wrestlers, that our school sees representation once again at the BC's. Our coaches were an integral part in our success as a team this year: Coach Penn's tough workouts, Coach Anderson's refined techniques, Coach Toura's attention to detail, and Coach Yi's impressive repertoire of moves were all a part of what made the wrestling experience at VC an enthralling and strengthening experience. With unshakable determination and hopeful anticipation, we patiently wait until our next season, when we can once again show the world what it takes to be a Fighting Irish wrestler.

Despite the departure of five graduating seniors, this year's twenty member roster looks to be even deeper and stronger than ever before on the side. Boys' captain Bosco Kwok has assumed the helm with humbleness: unquestioned leader.

The squad will need a little luck and a lot of hard work if they are above nearly 200 B.C. teams to win their division for the 3rd time in years and capture the trophy. Several teams in their east division and district alone threaten not only for city supremacy but also for provincial ch.

The Elementary School Volleyball teams had another successful and fun season. Many of the young players were able to perfect their skills while playing their best, during each passing game. They showed great enthusiasm and the true Fighting Irish spirit throughout the season.

HOCKEY

The second year of ice hockey at Vancouver College has been a great success.

There were over 45 players from grades 8-10 that tried out for both the developmental and game teams. 16 players and 2 goalies were selected to represent the school in all the games and tournaments. The season consisted of 10 practices, 5 exhibition games and 1 tournament on Vancouver Island. The 5 exhibition games were played against St. George's and Prince of Wales. Our exhibition record was 2 wins, 2 losses, and a tie. Vancouver College players demonstrated a passion for competition, and showed great class in all aspects of the game. The tournament held at Brentwood College really brought the team closer together. We advanced to the semi-finals of the tournament. Special thanks to the players, parents and coaches for the tremendous work done on making this season spectacular.

Ultimate Frisbee. A fairly new sport to Vancouver College, has taken the field by storm. During the springtime, it is a team composed of many of the different athletes seasoned through the year. Whether they played Basketball, Football, or Hockey, anyone is able to play this game of sheer amusement. Combining students from Vancouver College and Little Flower Academy, Ultimate is sure to be a growing sport uniting many people.

Golf

The Vancouver College Swim Team performed admirably this season. It consisted of Inaki Gomez (team captain), Dustin Lam (team Captain), Karyn Lam, Randy Sun, Josh Whinup, Edward Yuen, and Anthony Ang. These fine members have trained with a determination to excel in their meets this year; they did just that, winning four bronze medals and one gold medal in the Provincial Championship. Their coach, Mr. Nardi, had done an excellent job in bringing the swim Team members together and leading them to a tremendous result at the meets this year.

SPORTS

Clubs Councils Committees

The clubs of Vancouver College truly embody the Unity in Diversity mentality. With our various clubs, all of which contrast each other, many of the student members find security and friendships. Our clubs vary from the Sudoku Club, to the STRINGS association. Then there are committees, that hold this school together, like the Edmundians and the Student Council. Regardless of our difference in interests, students always find something amusing to do within our clubs.

Student Council

It is a new era in student leadership at Vancouver College.

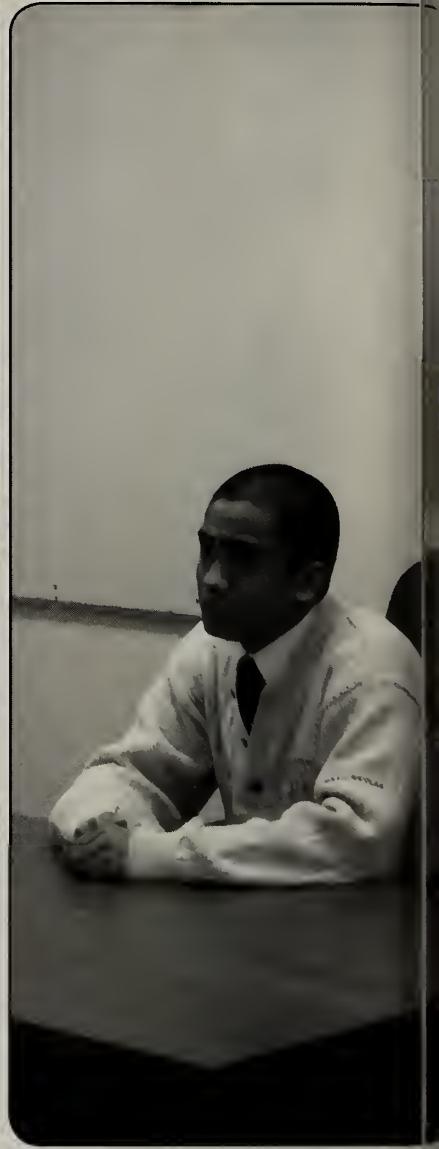

Nine student leaders have been elected by the student body to form the Student Council and act as their voice in presenting their ideas and concerns to the school's Administration.

The Student Council has provided for the students of Vancouver College a means to experience true democratic processes, an opportunity more available to students this year than ever before. They met regularly on a weekly basis, discussing its progress and functions. A good number of these meetings involved the meticulous task of drafting a constitution for the student body, the first of its kind at Vancouver College. The Student Council also heard proposals from many different organizations and committees at these meetings. This year, the Student Council acted as a major sponsor and financial supporter for such groups as the Pro-Life Club, the Drama Department and the Grad Committee. Also on its slate of activity this year was the return of Sports Day at Vancouver College, a grand undertaking celebrating community togetherness through friendly competition.

It has been a long and eventful year for the Student Council and its peers. Through hard work and dedication, the Student Council of 2006 has undoubtedly left its mark on Vancouver College. The triumphant completion of the school year and all the fond memories it has brought forth in hindsight are a testament to this truth.

The Grad Committee of 2006 would like to thank the Senior Class for their undying cooperation throughout the year to aid us with business such as Pregrad. We would like to thank the staff, especially Brother Newman, for the efforts they have to assure our work as completed. From Grad clothing to the dinner and dance, our work was truly rewarding as every Grad lit up with smiles. Another year has gone by, and another grad class has left a mark on the perpetual tradition of Vancouver College. Best wishes to the Grads of 2006, and good luck to the Grads of 2007.

The Edmundian Association has been one of three leadership groups in Vancouver College. The mission of the Edmundian Association at Vancouver College is to lead the community in fostering a faith community whose members seek to live the Gospel in everyday lives. We try to express this in a number of ways which include:

- in common worship
- in efforts at sharing the Gospel with others
- in walking with members of the community in times of difficulty
- in working towards an inclusive community which encourages and fosters the sharing of faith from many perspectives and traditions
- in a growing sense of ministry and service which is integrated with the students' learning experiences
- in the respect and concern for persons and the quality of relationships which exist
- in efforts at enriching humanity and the world through a growing awareness of the needs of the human community and responding to those needs.

This year the group strives to achieve a lot. We have a large group of members ranging from grade 10 to grade 12 in the Senior School with grade 9s as part of the Junior Edmundian Sector. This group of boys participates in many school functions in service to the school. We are a diverse group from different cultural backgrounds, and even religious beliefs. Yet in this diversity, we have found unity; we strive to move beyond racism, sexism, and all other irrational prejudices, realizing that both our words and our silence; our actions, as well as our inaction, have the power to hurt or heal. We fully believe that it is our experience and not our knowledge that is our greatest and most influential teacher. Knowledge of God without the experience of God does not move one to action to improve self or to be of service to others. Knowledge of love without the experience of love creates emptiness and wanting.

The Edmundian Association provides a platform to develop leadership through service, providing and teaching its members that the sweaters they bare do not signify status but a commitment to abiding by the association's mission statement. We realize that it is through silent service that leaders are formed.

The Letterman's Association is the visual manifestation of Vancouver College's mission to educate the whole person in the tradition of Blessed Edmund Rice. On the verge of rebirth, the letterman display both athletic and academic excellence. Each member of the association must display dedication effort and the skill on and off the field but these qualities alone do not sum up a letterman. Those privileged enough to don the sweater are examples of the great achievement and perseverance to athletic achievement with the same rigours of coursework that all students must face.

SOCIAL JUSTICE

This year the Social Justice Club was able to aid not only those at VC but others lifestyles in impoverished nations. Through many charitable events, the social justice club was able to accomplish and surpass many expectations. With growing support, the Social Justice Club is growing in numbers and will continue to help those in need, striving for equality among all individuals and promoting hard-work and tolerance in the process.

PRO-LIFE

Educational and enjoyable are few of the many possible words that can be used to describe the annual Reverence 4 Life Conference held in Vancouver College on November 18, 2005. With the union of the nine Lower Mainland Catholic schools, the day was enriched with amusing skits, seminars, prayer, and a social at the end. Father Horgan and Generation Life member Mark Houck were the keynote speakers of this highly popular event. All who attended achieved a higher degree of understanding towards the Pro-Life movement, for one must recognize that the unborn baby is, in fact, a living symbol of God's love. As young adults, we must learn to entrench core values in our society, especially those of compassion and wisdom; Reverence 4 Life was a prime example of an event that gave many an opportunity to practice being "Pro-Life."

Peer Tutor

The Peer Tutoring Club enables students to become leaders by volunteering their time to help fellow students. The Club has approximately fifty students ranging from grade four to twelve. The subject areas include Math, Junior Science, Chemistry, Physics, Biology, French, English, and Social Studies.

Overall,

the supportive nature of the Club.

Both tutors and tutees share in a common experience of brotherhood and growth. The Peer Tutoring Club provides a valuable learning experience for both tutors and tutees by fostering a positive and open learning environment where individuals can share their knowledge while others benefit from academic success.

Each student at Vancouver College has his own strengths, interests, and goals, and our annual President's Honours Society ceremony serves to showcase those individuals who have accomplished their goal of academic excellence. With admission requirements being set at a formidable 90 percent average throughout the academic year, the President's Honours Society's prestige and significance make this a goal worth working towards. The numerous individuals who have put in their time and effort are recognized on a school-wide scale. It is through this tradition that Vancouver College fosters a desire for excellence and, by congratulating these individuals, we too are shown the path to success as we strive for excellence.

Env. Club

The Senior Environment Club is new this year. It was established with the purpose of providing opportunities for senior students to get out into the natural environment for recreation and to learn more about local ecosystems. We went snowshoeing, sea kayaking, and to visit a marine ecology centre on Vancouver Island this year. We also plan to take canoeing lessons and to try indoor rock climbing. In the future we hope to bring greater environmental awareness to the community of Vancouver College through poster campaigns and community work.

Outdoor Ed.

The Grade 7 classes went to the North Vancouver Outdoor School for three days in late November. While there they helped collect salmon eggs for a hatchery, learned about pond insect larvae, and spent time observing the environment and journaling. They also learned the skill of archery, climbed through caves and across a cable bridge. One of the toughest challenges was a game involving getting their entire cabin group over a high wall. There was even some time for eating, sleeping, and feeding the pigs!

T.R.I.N.G.

In its third year of existence, the VC STRING Society has once again been successful in allowing students an environment conducive to learning about and exploring the diverse scientific fields of Biology, Chemistry, and Physics. The name of the STRINGS club is an acronym that stands for Science, Technology, Research, Innovation, and Neo-Growth. The word "string" comes from the Superstring theory that describes everything.

Physics

Geared towards those who possess insatiable appetite for mathematics, Math Club provides students with boundless opportunity to hone their mathematical skills. At times, we try to fully apprehend the problems of Principles of Mathematics 11 and 12 and other times we unravel some seemingly insolvable math contest problems. With the support of our unparalleled math teacher, Mr. Nardi, we are able to decipher the languages of math with ease. As we experience ourselves with myriads of math problems, there is no doubt that there will be rewarding outcomes regarding math contests and school curriculum. The meetings are held every Tuesday in Mr. Nardi's classroom as regularly as possible math club is open to all curious and mathematical minds.

Irish Pride

This has been a banner year for Irish Pride. Our second year has been a success with new members and new challenges. The team worked hard and well under pressure to present creative and fun pep rallies that included the "too cool to cheer monster" and "the Lord of the Emerald" epic quest. They also unveiled the new and improved Finnegan costume! Irish Pride optimizes Irish spirit and dedication in the school community. Big thanks to all members for their dedication and support and to Ms Rogers for working hard on our behalf. GO IRISH!

Debate

The Vancouver College Debate Society provides young thinkers the opportunity to explore and discuss diverse topics. It is an extensive training program which consistently produces provincially recognized debaters. The VCDS also partakes in numerous mock trials and law competitions.

Members benefit tremendously from debate, as it is essential to our nation's democratic process and important in successful decision making. The debate experience empowers members to participate more productively in shaping their own personal worlds and society as a whole.

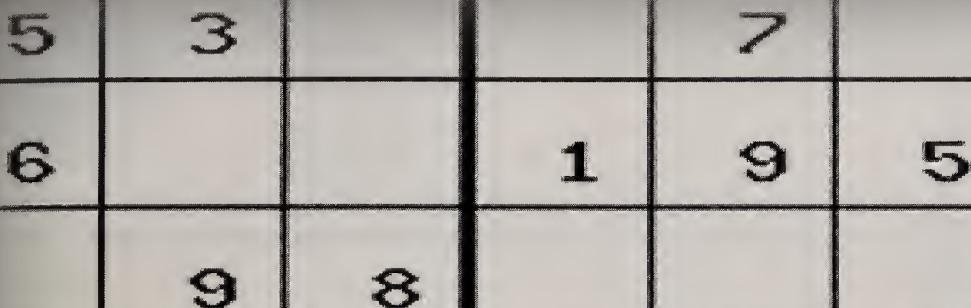

Known by our talent in dance and acrobatics, we meet almost everyday in either the wrestling room or the gym at lunch. Through hard work, practice and great passion for the art, break dancing has certainly become a way of expressing ourselves physically. The music runs through our body and exerts itself through the free styled movements that are created. Everyone is quite welcome to join us and learn, or just to simply watch and enjoy the music. Gaining popularity among the Senior School students, the Bboy Club has grown since last year. Everyone has a different style, and a different taste in music. But we all enjoy the art form, the culture, the dance, and the expressive medium that is, Break dancing

The Bboy Club

The Japanese Culture Club, formerly known as the "Anime Club" has somewhat become the hidden faction in our school. Although it is not a club that is noticeable, many individuals in our school present their interests in this genre of entertainment quite openly. Consisting of a large number of the senior student body, the club has resorted to having their "meetings" outside of the comfort of the classroom, where they inquire about stylistic differences of oriental culture. In doing so, many students not part of the club have been introduced to a culture much different from Canada. The purpose of the club is to create a link in the school through recognition of media they are not acquainted with.

Sudoku

"9 is there...so that means that the 4 is here!" The puzzle craze given in free magazines, swept the minds of several students of Vancouver College. The newly formed club led by the charismatic Michal Martinka and the wise Alvin Tejoco, gather every lunch hour on Mondays in room 205, to solve a 9x9 numbered puzzle. The object of the puzzle is to fill the 81 squared boxes from 1 to 9 vertically and horizontally. Simple, yet so complex in Students walk by and laugh at the members as they stare and gaze at the board without saying a word. However, in the minds of the Sudoku members, a whole world combinations and problem solving run through their minds. As the puzzles become more difficult, the members become more engaged into the task of solving the number puzzle.

Though there was no Journalism 12 class this year, the Voice of Vancouver College was not silenced. Eager volunteers from grades eleven and twelve took it upon themselves to write, gather, and edit stories, ranging from noteworthy events at Vancouver College, to scathing reviews about talent-deficient artists. Supervised by Mr. Randy Duggan, the newspaper crew worked tirelessly to interview faculty members, conduct school-wide surveys, complete articles on time, and rush to format the layout of the newspaper before the harrowing deadline. But for all the baggage of work and stress, it was all worth it when we could see the student body from not only VC but also LFA read what we had worked so hard to create.

Choir

The Vancouver College Concert Choir brings its hard work and practice for a second official year. Showcasing many returning members from last year, vast progress has been achieved. With their strong voices, the choir trains for its many performances, including school liturgies and uniting the voices as one in variation of its musical styles, from traditional Latin to R&B favorites. Many thanks is given to our pianists/instrumentalists Dane De Silva, Telesford Esplana, and Carson Wan for their extra efforts to make the choir even more phenomenal, and to Br. O' Loughlin for his great dedication and leadership to this promising group of young men.

music as diverse, dynamic and rhythmic as ever before, ranging in festivals across all of southern British Columbia, VC's young musicians of a plethora of genres have been given the freedom and opportunity to pursue a future of their own choosing, gaining confidence and expanding their own creativity with every new endeavour. Plotting and circumventing new charts through augurous tempos, ranging rhythms and time signatures from Bach, to Bruckner, Klaus (Pirates of the Caribbean), the music of VC's bands of 2016 speaks for itself. There is no limit, save what you aren't willing to give.

There is no task more daunting than constantly honing one's abilities whilst reinventing oneself, then creating new ideas of one's own. At the end, the pleasure to say, with pride, they've tried and loved it is the greatest gift a band teacher can give to a student, or any teacher for that matter.

The numerous events of Vancouver College bring together the unique and diverse individuals of the school. These gatherings help bring about the close relationship that is present in the community. The members of the school unite for various activities such as Mayfair, pep rallies, retreats and liturgies. These people spend time with one another and bond during these events, just as a family does when going out together. Like a family, the Vancouver College community is made up of unique individuals, brought together by a common bond.

EVENTS

Liturgy

Amidst the hectic school schedule the Liturgy is a welcome break, providing us each with solace and time to find direction. It is surprising how often we forget that Vancouver College is not only a place of learning, but a place of faith as well. The Liturgy is unlike any other event at Vancouver College. Together, the entire school unites in belief, reflection and prayer. The unique quality of the Liturgy is that, while united, each person also encounters God on an individual level. Though we all hear the same readings, each student can take with him a different meaning, related to the problems and struggles he is faced with.

Remembrance Day

Lest We Forget. Simple yet powerful words, it is of utmost importance that we never forget the horrors of war, and the Canadians that have faithfully fought to preserve our way of life in Canada. It is difficult to properly pay tribute to the veterans who have done so much, and asked for so little. However, at Vancouver College, the care, thought, and attention given to the Remembrance Day ceremony is unmistakable.

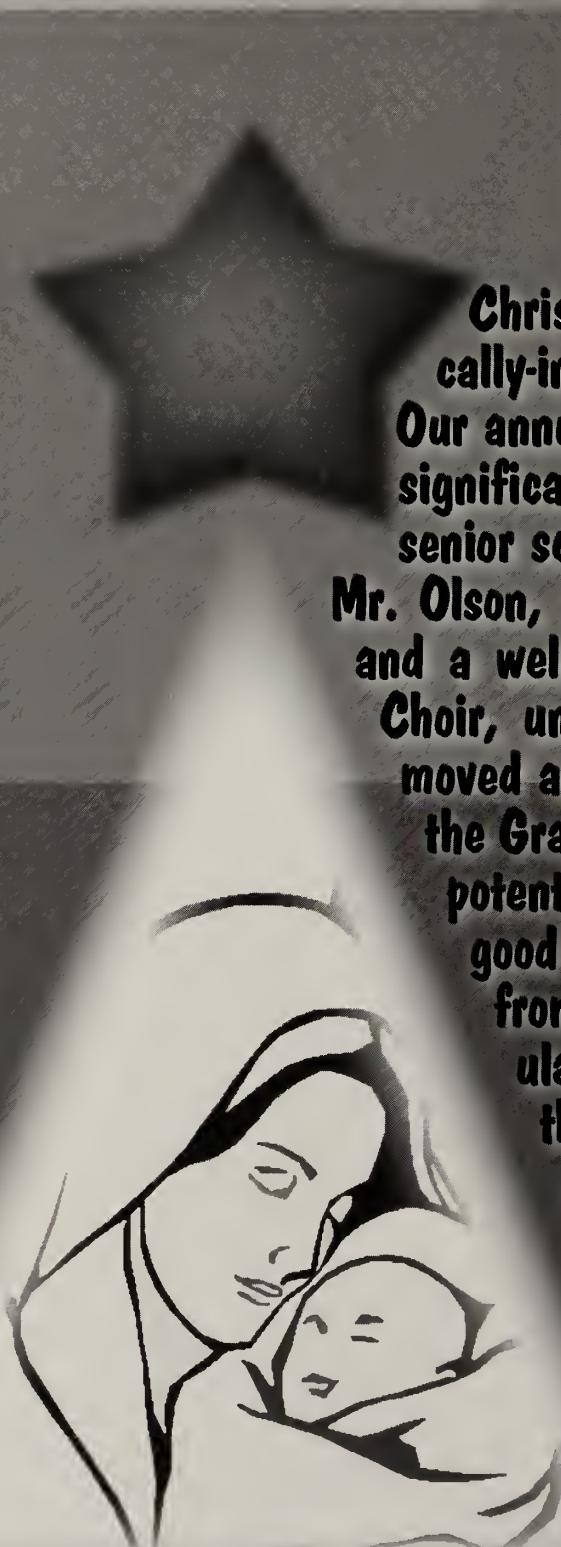

In solemn reverence, Vancouver College gathered to remember those lost in war. Very few present would be able to say that they, personally, have seen war or its effects. Yet, each person in attendance recognized the importance of honouring Canadians who have not only seen war, but experienced it. In fact, for most of us, it is nearly impossible to truly understand the great importance Remembrance Day holds. On this day, we do not merely remember those who went to war, but remember why they went to war. We remember the atrocities our veterans endured, the lives they lost, and the courage each carried with them.

The entire school gathered under one roof to pay respect to the Canadian veterans of war. Although of different age and different background, each student of Vancouver College had within them the same thought: gratitude. United by this single feeling, the community welcomed guests led by the Cadets of Vancouver College. The VC choir sang a stirring rendition of "O Canada", followed by Student Council President Renato Nicolas leading prayer and the role call. The choir, accompanied by the Senior Concert Band, then sang "Amazing Grace". A special presentation by Mr. Scrubb reminded the congregation of the realities of war, and how war involves real people and real emotions. Many pictures showed crying faces, hitting that chord of human emotion within each of us. Together, the Vancouver College community honoured these brave men and women, realizing the struggles facing them are for our country, our freedom.

SCHOOL PRODUCTION LITTLE SHOP OF HORRORS

is the pleasure of Vancouver College, to yet again, present another successful production. "Little Shop of Horrors" held at the Norman Rothstein Theatre, was a spectacular act. Putting a little Vancouver College spice into the 60's quirky play about a killer plant, Mr. Antonio Santarossa and fellow Vancouver College students gave the audience a performance to remember. With the stellar talents of our very own Greg Pember, and leading lady Emily Canavan, theatregoers were wowed every moment of the play.

Dinner Show

The Finnegan Ball is one of the most anticipated events of the school year that is etched into the calendars of the Vancouver College community. Once again, it was a great success. This year, the Finnegan Ball successfully raised a vast amount of money, which immensely benefited the school, while presenting an evening of enjoyment for all those who attended. Supporters from across the Lower Mainland came and generously took part in the silent and live auction, raffles, and 50/50, yet had some time left to enjoy the remainder of the night with the entertainment of song and dance.

Mother's Tea Party

The Thirteen Year Men were summoned to serve at the annual Mother's Coffee Party. Dressed for the occasion, they were completely concealed in a white dress shirt, purple bowtie and cummerbund, white gloves, black dress pants, and black dress shoes. They were at the service of so many honourable and willingly allowed frenzies of highly respected women to swarm the sushi, sandwiches, and potstickers presented to them. As they ate to their delight, the mothers socialized with other fellow mothers, tried their luck at the silent auction, and enjoyed the cherubic entertainment. The Thirteen Year Men took pleasure in being the aid of many mothers.

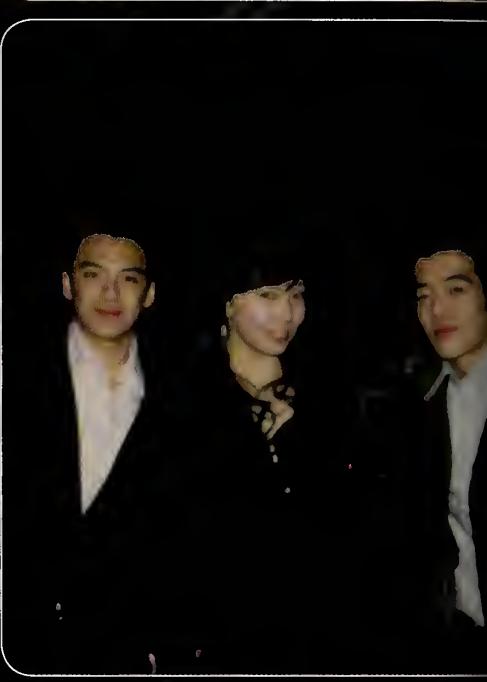

As young men, we acknowledge the wisdom of our fathers. United through the bond of father and son, the Senior Grad Class experienced a delightful night among friends and fathers. Grads and Dads 2006, was a sight to behold as this year's Grad class is filled to the brim with many unique men. With speeches given by Carson Ho, Mr. Gordon, and Brother Newman, the students gained values and lessons universal to the new leaders of tomorrow. This was truly a night to be remembered.

Grads and Dads

The music blared that evening, as the Abitibi cruised out onto the waters of False Creek. With months of planning behind them, the Grad Committee of 2006 took the pleasure of welcoming many of the Vancouver College Seniors and their dates onto the boat. The food was delectable, and the sights exquisite. With the large number of seniors this year, the boat was instantly filled with finely dressed young adults, ready to celebrate one of their last moments in high school life. Balloons flew into the night air, signalling many good times to come.

MAYFAIR

The Vancouver College Mayfair is an annual event which succeeds in bringing many different groups together under the banner of our school's wellbeing. From teachers, to students, to parents and volunteers, the Mayfair signifies each individual's contribution to Vancouver College. The Mayfair, besides providing varied entertainment, sought-after prizes, and great bargains, hosts many cultures and cuisines, making mouths water at the prospect of the legendary Mayfair food bazaar. With a food-filled atmosphere and amicable company, the Mayfair experience is surely a memorable one.

Grade 11 Retreat

The second annual Grade 11 retreat was a surprise, to say the least. Very few people truly expected this experience to be life-changing based on experiences with previous grade-level retreats. Our first over-night experience with Vancouver College was enough to change this viewpoint and unite a diverse grade level under common themes of new beginnings, Church, forgiveness, and goals. Our time spent away from the classroom allowed us to acquaint ourselves with one another, creating bonds of friendship between people previously unknown to one another and allowing us to express ourselves in a completely unedited and true manner. The Grade 11 retreat has shown us that our goals and ideals can be surprisingly similar while preserving our individuality and we eagerly anticipate our final year at Vancouver College with the belief that Encounter 12 will allow to become even better ambassadors of Christ.

ENCOUNTER

Encounter

Another year of success passes by with the new set of senior students. An experience shrouded in mystery, the Encounter program has played a large role in the unified front of Vancouver College for the past fifteen years. Many go with stresses and sufferings, and return with smiles. Through the Encounter experience, one's time at Vancouver College becomes all the more lively, as eyes are revealed to the love, truth, and friendship that one has here. With the visitors from Ireland, newly added to the Encounter tradition, Vancouver College was proud to teach them about its positive role in life. They return to their homeland, with a new tradition, and a new start on life.

Reverence 4 Life

It was yet another year of success for the VC Pro-life Club. The club's philosophy, spreading the message about the sanctity of life, continued to grow around the community. Led by teacher sponsors Mr. Jim Canil and Mrs. Donna Ameerali, and president Alexis Ngo, Vancouver College was an outstanding host for numerous events. The annual Youth 4 Life Day and Christmas Tree Project were few of the many powerful successes the Club had this past school year, as they emphasized the importance of compassion, knowledge, and generosity. Furthermore, College hosted the notable Reverence For Life Conference for the first time in the school's history. Keynote speakers endorsed this event with their strong background knowledge on the Pro-life movement, while active participation by the attending Catholic schools added more fun into the meeting. If one expects to be called a "Pro-lifer," then he must be willing to stand up against the wrongs of abortion and euthanasia; the VC Pro-life Club did that and much more.

DEBATE REGIONALS

On Saturday, February 4th, Vancouver College hosted the British Columbia Regional Debate Championships for the first time in the school's storied history. With over 80 teams competing from ten private schools in the Lower Mainland, Vancouver College was the site for a day full of passionate discourse. Heated exchanges, witty remarks, and exciting debate echoed through the halls as various topics were discussed: "Should children who commit serious crimes be tried in adult court" and "Should debate be made a compulsory subject in high school." After a long day, the VC delegation qualified for the Provincial Championships, led by grade seven student Colin Cheng.

Special thanks go to the entire Vancouver College community for their support and hospitality, especially the staff and students who volunteered their time to help.

HALLOWEEN

Each year, Halloween allows students at Vancouver College to show their goofy and creative sides. With the elementary and middle schools dressing up in colourful and imaginative costumes, this year's Halloween celebrations surely displayed each student's love of... candy. Spending the day dressed up also allows students to see their teachers in costume and whether it's Elvis Presley or a bug-eyed alien who walks into the classroom, Halloween gives each student a chance to break out of his shell and relax a bit, letting his silliness be his guide to enjoy but another day at Vancouver College.

Yearbook, this is my letter to you. Although we may have had our differences, I have come through in the clutch to deliver your babies. I may not have been as committed to you as you may have wanted, yet in times of need I supported you. In the beginning of our relationship, we flourished. And it has deteriorated since then. However, when you were your knees I picked you up off the streets and made you clean again. It has been a most arduous journey. Some nights I wait up for you with nothing but pizza and a coke. Until the security guard comes for a visit. Much grief you have caused me, but the strength of my character keeps me intact. The publication of this production is your gratitude to the crew and me. Much thanks goes to Jeremy, and the rest of the editors. To the crew, thanks for all the hard work. Next year, here we

On a rainy Thursday evening, our most coveted senior editor was in dire need of a means of transportation. After countless hours of occupying our cramped working quarter for no reason but to take up space, this particular moment marked the beginning of my time to shine. He came up to me with a sad countenance and requested a small favour, a favour that would set us on our journey to his humble abode. We weaved through the landscape in a swift manner jovially taking in the sweet, sweet scenery. The rain pat-pat-patted against the exterior shell of Corolla and further sweetened the ambiance. It was short lived, however, because one loses all sense of time when bombarded with feelings of elation. My presence in the world was finally felt. I had fulfilled my destiny.

“Don’t worry about it.” The most annoying yet applicable phrase out there. Thankfully, it didn’t cause anyone to go psychotic(er) and, somehow, we managed to get the yearbook done “on time”. It’s been a real sprint to the finish this year and it’s thanks to the dedication of people like Stefan, Josh, Pat G, Pat P, Richard, Francis, and, definitely, Jeremy, that you now have this year’s edition of the Vancouver College yearbook in front of you. Fancified (I enjoy making up words) write-ups, pizza-a-plenty (it seems everyone always seems to mention this part of yearbook in their writeups), Jeremy’s OH-so random jokes, and our last minute ditch at photos (eh, Pat and Pat) are just some of the things which made my time spent in the yearbook so enjoyable. Our resolution next year: to meet our deadlines, go team! Should be fun eh? I definitely look forward to next year’s yearbook, if we get stuck, we’ll just bug Jeremy. Hunt you down and whatnot. Good fun.

Now on to the space-filling aspect of this write-up. At this point, I’m only about halfway done my required length for this write-up, and I have nothing better to talk about, with the conclusions about yearbook being finished (see above paragraph), it’s time for <<insert witty comment here>>. At any rate, with one day to go before our absolute-final-must-finish-everything-before-then-deadline, I write this with a sincere... stupor at how random Richard is. Thanks to Jeremy for all his dedication (yes, I’m thanking him twice, get over it). I hope to see many new recruits for next year’s yearbook. It’s time to get started deciding the theme anyways... check moodle... suggest a theme... Some Copy Guy

Wow. What a ride Collegian 2006 has been. I must say, all the time and effort put into this year’s yearbook will always be something I remember, even though I haven’t been the most productive member of the crew. As Art Department Head I’d especially like to thank to all those who supported student art, contributed, and helped make it the collection it is (Stewie, Nichoe Lance, Ben, and all others, thanks a million). And even more so, special thanks to Supreme Overlord Jeremy Villarama, for making it all come together. Here’s to coming in on weekends, pizza, hard work, and root beer. Good times during Yearbook camp, and hopefully Collegian 2007 will have many, many more. Hope you guys have enjoyed the endpages and the great art; till next year.

Note to self for future: you designed this page Stef! What were you thinking.

I was born into a world you may not understand. I joined yearbook because it is relevant to my interests and delivers in every possible aspect. Many questions from my past arose as I took upon myself this prestigious position asked myself “What is a man?” to which I concluded “nothing but a miserable pile of secrets”. Resolute, I decided that my own faults must be stopped. Why they must be stopped is still a mystery to me. I had seen what the previous yearbook editors had done there and I sought to reproduce it. This position has brought me to consider the many quandaries of the universe. Simplistic as dividing by zero to complex questions as the aforementioned riddle. Perhaps this endeavor in yearbook is my way of barrel rolling out of all my life’s problems. Or perhaps it’s a statement of what I am to the world. More likely, this like many other undertakings in an individual’s life is an insignificant aspect of where we all resolve to end. Certainly, I am being somewhat hypocritical as I do not forgive the “Emo” kid mentality. Thus I am resolute in saying ignore everything I have previously stated. Derive one thing from this statement. The irrelevancy of the individual and the group; Everything is irrelevant.

FRANCIS “ibook”

Wow, I’m part of the yearbook crew? Are you serious, Jeremy? Well, since he asked me to write this, I guess I AM a member! Yay! All my contribution to the book can be summed up in a week’s work. However, I managed to produce some layouts (any page composed of right angles...I prefer to keep EVERYTHING straight...) Anyway...I can’t wait to see my layouts being published! I wish I could contribute more to the team but it’s always laziness that caught me. Though I only did a weeklong of actual work, I gained plenty of skills and experience in doing professional layouts. Now, I’m looking forward to applying what I’ve learned this year to the Collegian next year. I hope everyone who is reading this would have the same feeling of thanks as I do for all the guys who gave up their weekends and free time to make the production of the yearbook possible. Special thanks to Jeremy who gave me the opportunity to do layouts and recognizing me as a part of the yearbook crew. Well...here’s our yearbook! Hope you enjoy it!

What's up party people! This is pretty cool. I got a spot in the YEARBOOK! What can I say that can fill up the 200 300 words I'm allotted?? Well, firstly, I'd just like to say thanks to the editors for giving me the chance to be part of the team. Jeremy, Reggie, Pat, and Stef [Mr. Art Editor!], you guys kept it together this year. Having first-hand experience in how much work it takes to make this yearbook, I've really come to appreciate any yearbook I have received at the end of the year, or will be receiving [wow, only two left!]. Patty Park! Man all those sports and events you covered, props man! Oh, Reggie, I WILL keep in runnin'!" Stef . . . hmm . . . well we're stuck together for another year so I'll give you a shoutout then =P! And Jer, 's been good, bery goot indeed. Breakin' at lunch, yearbook afterschool. I'd just like to thank you and all the guys for this earbook. Without you guys, we wouldn't have anything to sign and to look back on years down the road.

just wanna say to the yearbook team of 07, "we've got this, guys." Stef, Curt, Jay, Jonny, Rich, Francis, Nicco, and everyone whom I may have missed out on . . . sorry in advance guys]. We have another awesome year to look forward to. MORE pictures, write-ups, layouts, artwork, and long, long, long hours of . . . doing absolutely nothing. Just kidding Mr. Duggan! anyways peaceout guys! Thanks for the spot=P.

Wow! I really get a spot of my own in this big book of faces!? And by the way, for those who actually bothered reading this, you have finally received your yearbook. CONGRATULATIONS! I hope you like its contents. Anywonk. This year has been absolutely stressful, for our chief editor that is. For me, not so much. HAHA. Roight. Well, after these ten months of hard labour, so to speak, we have successfully put together quite a compelling binding of memorable memories for all to enjoy and reminisce upon. YOU BETTER BE APPRECIATIVE! Although being somewhat a "senior" assumes much responsibility, in many ways, I think I'm quite subordinate. I have no idea what I said, but hey, yearbook's a dictatorship. I do what I'm told to do! AND I DID MY DUTIES THANK YOU! Anywonkings, I would very much like to personally thank Jeremy, for allowing me to take an opportunity to take on some extra responsibility in service to the school. I would also like to thank Reggie Antasuda, Curt Da Silva, Pat Guevara, Pat Park, and Jay Esplana, for making yearbook such a great experience. Wow! I sound really corny in some parts of this ramblation of thanks and reminiscing. A special thanks to Mr. Duggan for supervising and keeping us updated on, stuff, and for the pizzas, even though I had pizza, like, twice. Anywonks, a general thanks to the entire yearbook crew for making the yearbook happen. Yeah, I know, usually at the last minute, but it makes me feel alive! No? For seriousness! It does! Dudes, I can't wait till next year. Okay, maybe I can, but I really hope that next year we can maybe, JUST, maybe, make it all happen again. I had a great time this year. The best of luck to all the seniors, and to the next yearbook crew. AITE! PEACE! Keep the memories comin' guys.

“Unity and Diversity...UNIVERSITY!...”

Working together during the year, we learn that we are all different. But, we also learned that through our diversity, we are united in our faith and learning community. Another summer approaches, and our joyful sentiments in themselves are diverse from the mundane outlook during the winter. Some of us take our last steps through the hallways in this school, while others will return united and stronger than before, to continue our traditional force, the Fighting Irish.

Multifaceted in academics, in sports, and in arts, another year has passed us by. We can truly and proudly say that the fruits of our labor have not gone unrewarded. Every piece of homework completed, every fumble recovered, and every basket scored incorporated each and every student working together. Although old faces will be replaced by new ones, the bonds formed at Vancouver College through unity in diversity will never be broken. Semper Fidelis.

“shutter-bug” PARK

After working as the photo senior editor for the 2006, I finally realized that the hardest thing a student can do is not taking five courses or staying awake in the endless classes but working on yearbook!! The last few weeks both in and out of campus taking photos and collecting pictures were a very “unique” experience, and there is not a single way I can comprehensively explain our effort and frustration behind the blue workroom door. Unlike the other department staffs, the photographers have to sojourn various events and games which are sometimes away from VC and during weekends or holidays. For that, I would like to congratulate and thank all of my photographers, particularly Patrick Guevara and Joshua Nacar for being there when I really needed some help. I would also like to thank Mr. Duggan for being so helpful to complete this task. Before I end this extra homework, I would like to confess my laziness and apologize to Jeremy and Reggie for not being organized enough. I sincerely hope and wish that next yearbook will be completed smoother. (For their sake.) Good luck to the next yearbook staff.

O? This space is mine? SWEET. Anyway, to anyone reading this I just want to say thank you for giving me the opportunity to work on this yearbook. Coming into this project I did not know what to expect exactly (yes we do have a finance department!) but I learnt a lot from the yearbook team. Even though my department was not the conventional ones, I was really happy to give back to this school in some small way. I want to thank Mr. Duggan especially for giving me this opportunity and helping me and the team, Mrs. Lattimer for being a wonderful guide and keeping me on the ball, and special thanks to Mrs. Gong for being immensely patient with our tardiness and disorganization *cough*. Thank you to the entire yearbook staff including the senior editors and especially Jeremy for giving us tons of support. Wow, it really was down to the wire for this department but we pulled through boo yea! I’ll never forget the Saturday morning meetings, pizza, taking photos at the games, more pizza, working with Mrs. Lattimer and Mrs. Gong, and did I mention pizza? (well except that one sushi dinner ^_^) I learnt so much after this experience especially the importance of organization (oops) Anyways, Yearbook has been tons of fun and it’s helped me in so many ways but it’s time to pass the torch so I wish all future Yearbook teams the best of luck. Peace and take care.

Well, I'm here again. Thanks a lot to Jeremy for giving me all this space to write. I'd first off like to say that my time here has been a blast. Throughout my 5 years here, I've experienced an endless amount of memories that I will remember forever, whether it be good or bad. I like to thank all the people who have helped me along the way, because I couldn't be the person I am today without all of their continuous help. Up to this point, no one has helped me more than my family. From the rides, cooking food, cleaning my clothes, helping me in any way possible, they have done it all. While at school, teachers not only taught me the curriculum, but the lessons to become a better person. Same thanks go to the coaches (Koz, Choo, Burke, Bernetts, Devenport, Penn) who pushed and forced me to strive for my best. Last but not least my friends, who have made my time in high school so amazing. Bernice, Oscar, John, Kim-long, Enrique, Joe, Louis, Phoebe, Rhyan can't thank you guys enough for everything. All the football guys: Eric, Ricky, Chino, Chiu, Cam, Carlo, Jim, Joemar, Chris, Rob, Jason, Nigel, Peck, D. Vo, we've gone through a heck of a lot over the years. AP Bio guys: Thanks guys for the crazy 2 years. Band: (Thanks Mr. Olson) Five great years of band trips and morning bands! To everyone else: Sean, Alexis, Bihis, Cat, Becky, Ben, Carmelo, Loretta, Gil, Stef, Rom, Arthur, CJ, Connie, Mark, David, Tim, Christina, Trisha, Berlin, Mica, Pradas, (Insert name here) thanks for all the memories. It's finally over and thanks to God for blessing me with everything and everyone over the years. Peace!

So this is how it ends, the last chapter to a crazy era. It has been quite a ride but every minute of yearbook was worth it. I was surprised when Jeremy, the master and brains behind this yearbook, chose me for the position of copy editor one year ago. Thanks dude for the opportunity. We walked into the cramped yearbook room not knowing anything, but our fearless leader was there to lead us all the way. Thanks to Mr. Duggan who trusted all of us to get everything done, guided us, and supplied us with dinner (pizza... like always :P) every work night. Many thanks to Roland and the accounting guys who found advertisements and money for the pizza fund... and... uh... oh ya... the yearbook also. Pat Park and everyone in the photo department did an excellent job. Thanks for allowing me to be trigger happy with the camera. There will not be a shortage of pictures this year. The art department did an amazing job. Stef... I'm still disappointed... haha... Joke Lang. MANY THANKS TO ALL THE COPY PEOPLE. Those deadlines were hectic, but you guys tried your hardest to meet my expectations and my often random requests (such as last minute write-ups... "What is this word, 'write-up', you talk about?"). Missing write-ups are a myth by the way. Thanks to whoever bought and installed speakers on the computers. Working in that small room without music is agony. There are so many memories to mention: the cramped yearbook room, the late nights, the weekend meetings, the pizza, the culmination of ear pumping music, the stress, the jokes, the laughs, the high speed internet, the mad rush at the end, and the taking pictures for everything from open house to candids. HEY PAT KEEP ON RUNNING! To next year's crew, I wish you guys the best of luck. Here is a little piece of advice for you guys... try to do things early, you will get sick of pizza after a while, music is a necessity, and ERROR 99 is a very bad thing. It has been an honor to serve with all of you as part of the Yearbook crew. We made memories immortal. One last shout out to all my friends, family and God. Stay Safe and Later days.

Amazing. A year's worth of toils, troubles, and tribulations all dealt with in a short amount of time. I can't help but say thank you to the administration and Mr. Duggan for their patience and MERCY, for my poor attempt at being a leader. I'd like to say thank you to all those who provided assistance, even the for the smallest jobs. Thanks to my main editors: Regg, Pat, Pat, Josh, Jay, Roland, Curt, Rick, Francis, Jonny, James, Stef, Alvin for sticking with me through to the end. Without them, none of you guys would be able to have a yearbook this year. A VERY BIG thank you goes out to our Josten's Representative, Mr. Reid Felske. This man is the bridge that supports our business with yearbook over troubled water. Another year has gone by, another yearbook has been completed. My second time around, it seemed more stressful than the first. You know the old saying, "if you want something done, you gotta do it yourself?" Well...THIS IS SERIOUSLY NOT THE RIGHT PHRASE FOR YEARBOOK.

Good luck to the guys next year.

Be more organized. Don't have an army that doesn't listen. Be aggressive. Get new equipment.

JAY "youngin' "

Wow. The name's Jay. Jay Esplana. (or Telesford!) I've come a long way on my first year in yearbook. Thanks to all the dudes on the yearbook photo team. Teaching me different things like what aperture is or 'flash or no flash?' Props to all the senior editors for spending countless hours sorting photos and write-ups. Meeestarr Jerrrremy Villaramaaa! Kudos to you man. Making tight deadlines, designing layouts. You pulled it off my frriendh! Oh man. It's been a great year. When I first joined the yearbook team, I had no clue how to use the cameras. My buddy Pat Guevara who showed me the ropes to using our newly acquired digital SLR camera. Pat Park, telling me to take pictures of this and that. Mr. Duggan, always letting me mess around with the computers at lunch. Over 100 photos taken, 2 cameras, 2 faulty memory cards, 1 great zoom lens, over a hundred pages to fill with photos. This is yearbook photographer Jay Esplana signing off and that's the way the cookie crumbles.
